Parent Teacher Conferences
These important conferences will be held at our school on May 15. I would urge every parent to take advantage of this formal opportunity to meet and discuss your child’s progress with their teachers. A quality parent teacher relationship provides immeasurable support for every student during each year at secondary school. If you have missed booking on the online system please call our office to arrange an alternate timeslot.

NAPLAN
The national assessment of literacy and numeracy will occur across the country on May 13, 14 & 15 with a scheduled catch-up day on May 16. This assessment package measures the literacy, numeracy and critical thinking skills of students at key developmental junctures, for our school, students in Year 7 & 9. NAPLAN testing has not always had a positive profile and there has been much comment on the negative impact of the Language Conventions, Writing, Reading and Numeracy assessment. So I would suggest thinking about the tests in this frame – the assessment is about checking, at key junctures, that each individual has reached a performance level that allows them to engage with the learning required in their particular year level.

Royal Visit to Queensland
What a tremendous experience – to be at a State Reception for the visit of the royals to Brisbane. An experience for school captains, Jordanna Wale and Bradley Fuller, who attended the reception as guests of the Premier.

Student Progress Reports
Term One interim Student Progress Reports have all been posted to home addresses in the last fortnight. Please review the progress to date with your student and spend some time setting a realistic goals for the learning period ahead.

Welcome back to Term 2. We are already away and running with many events already occurring. This week sees the National Literacy and Numeracy tests completed by our grade 7 and 9 students. These tests are a valuable tool in the collation of data about our school and our students. All year 7 and 9 students need to be congratulated on both their attitude towards and behaviour during these tests.

Following the break it is also timely to revisit our school expectations. Remember that at Toolooa, we expect everyone to be respectful and responsible and to put in their best effort so that they can achieve great things.

On Monday at parade we welcomed our new School Chaplain, Claire Breed with her commissioning ceremony. Claire will be participating and assisting with existing programs throughout the school, as well as beginning new ones in the near future. We are very fortunate to have many staff that are here to provide extra support to our students. It is a pleasure to welcome Claire to Toolooa.

On Friday night our Junior School Disco is scheduled to occur. This disco is a fund raiser for our school musical. It would be fantastic to see many students come along, support the school and have a good time. All students who attend must have returned the signed permission slip to school and they must also have the school ID card to enter the dance. No students will be permitted entry without their ID card. At 6pm a ‘lockout will occur’, this means that no students will be allowed to enter the dance after this time.

The Engineering Link Project.
The Engineering Link Project is a three-day immersion course for Year 11 and Year 12 students who may be considering engineering as a career. Students work in small project groups with other school students from across the CQ area. Engineers and scientists lead them in designing, building and testing a project each day.

This project occurs at CQU Rockhampton July 1-3. Students stay at Capricornia College (next door to the university).

The Engineering Link Project has been operating since 2001 and has successfully assisted students with understanding university options and also experience university lifestyle by actually staying in university accommodation and using university facilities.

A University tour and access to all education departments are included in this trip.

Further details and applications can be obtained from www.telg.com.au or from Mr Muller (science).

Any adult with children beyond the nappy stage is undoubtedly concerned about the influence and temptations of the rapidly developing technological world. Once, we tried to keep our children safe on the street and in our homes; now they can be reached—silently, secretly—through mobile phone and computer, by text, by email, by a quick encounter in a chat room, a photo on a phone. And not everyone in cyber space is there for friendship’s sake. The headlines are full of stories of young people who followed their natural curiosity and trust too far. In addition, this is a world that belongs to any young person who is savvy about the computer and other devices—usually in a way that an adult would be unaware of—and easily outmanoeuvred.

As with any issue, building the kind of respect and trust between adult and child that leads to good communication begins long before the issues do—but even with this basis, children who reach the age of ten or eleven and beyond are anxious to have their own freedoms, their own worlds, their own secrets even in the best of times. And with the cyber-scene changing with every season, and new adaptations and fads driving it, it takes an effort to stay clued up about cyberspace.

Keep these ideas in mind from the very beginning, when the computer and mobile are delivered. And discussion about use should begin even before that time. Set up computers out in the open. The chance of observation may keep some users on track.

- Work together to set up some guidelines, and talk about dangers.
- Establish a family email account that all can use for sign-ins; for instance, at gaming websites.
- Consider using a filtering device.
- Emphasize that privacy is vital. Names, addresses, pin numbers, but also photographs and other clues are not for the internet. Discuss the dangers—there are no secrets in cyberspace. Use privacy settings on social networking sites. And remind them that everything is traceable.
- Teach your young people to trust instincts that suggest there is danger. If children want to test a website or chat room visitor, see what happens when they suggest they are discussing things with their parents.
- Don’t delete search and chat histories, in case there are problems—printing off messages is good evidence.
- Know the typical behaviours that may signal a child is being bullied. And bullies may also exhibit unusual behaviour.
- Threatening or abusive messages or pictures, sent to a classmate or anyone else, criminal codes, and may incur a fine or even imprisonment. Talk to the police.
- Remind them that they should be respectful in what they send on the internet—words sound different when written, not spoken—or when published for everyone to see. If they are receiving bullying messages, DO NOT RESPOND. Bullies get their enjoyment from seeing a target’s distress. But do talk to an adult!

Finally, try to stay current! Browse the internet; try some games and chat rooms. Slang, fads, games can all change constantly.

School Audit:- What is this about?

Our schools and the School Based Youth Health Nurse’s (SBYHN) within the district would like to establish the health needs of students, staff and parents in our Schools. This will entail taking a whole of school approach by auditing students, parents and teachers.

Evidence has shown that if we enhance student’s health status this will improve their educational achievement.

Please remember the information you provide us is confidential.

I encourage you to participate in the survey (click on link below) as this is your chance to help your school to become a healthier place to learn and play, “Better health means better learning out comes”.

Your views are extremely important.

https://websurvey.eq.edu.au/efm/se.ashx?s=0B87A62B09F63E1B

The questions are based around creating a Healthier School.

We thank you for your time. The results of this survey help to demonstrate evidence to secure future funding of programs and resources not only within our school but also for our community. For example, results of our 2011 audit has been utilised to demonstrate the need for a possible headspace centre for the community, so please complete.

Much appreciated.

On the last week of school we had dietician Megan Leane from the Gladstone GP Super Clinic giving her valuable time to speak to the year 9 students on how to adapt our favourite recipes to be healthier. Choc chip muffins were modified on the day using less sugar, saturated fats, fats and fibre added. The demonstration led to very interesting questions being asked by the students.

Of course all demonstrations need taste tasting. Thank you Megan for giving up your time, it was extremely appreciated. Megan is based at the Gladstone GP Super Clinic and can be contacted on 4978 1999.

School Based Immunisations.

Dear Parents.

School Based Immunisation at Toolooa SHS is the 19th May.

Tips for IMMUNISATIONS FOR 2014: Please ensure that you child has had breakfast that morning and it is a good idea to discuss why it is important for your child to be having the immunisation.

The vaccinations are for the following students:

* Year 8 students - HPV (dose 2) & Boostrix
• Year 10 male students - HPV (dose 2) & Boostrix

What is the HPV vaccine?

It protects against the four types of human papillomavirus (HPV) that cause 70% of cervical cancers and 90% of genital warts.

If you need a new copy of the consent form or more information please go to http://www.health.qld.gov.au/immunisation/sbvp/consent.asp or click on the link Immunisation consent form or watch the video about HPV www.cervicalcancervaccine.org.au.

Hey Everyone,

Some of you may have met me already or have seen me around school but I wanted to formally introduce myself to you all. My name is Claire Breed and I am the new school Chaplain here at Toolooa State High School. I am very honoured to be starting my new journey as a chaplain at such a great school and have had such a warm welcome to the role. It has been a fun and busy first few weeks settling in and I look forward to the many weeks ahead meeting more students and teachers along the way and making Toolooa my new home.

Over the next couple of articles I would like to introduce myself and what I do with some fun facts sections. For this first article I will share a little on what is a Chappy and will share a bit on who I am.

What is a Chaplain? ‘SU Chaplains are people who provide spiritual and emotional support to the school communities, including students, staff, teachers, their families and the community as a whole. They are in the prevention and support business: helping students find a better way to deal with difficulties they may face; ranging from family breakdown and loneliness, to drug abuse, depression, anxiety, bullying and more. They provide a listening ear and a caring presence for kids in crisis, and those who just need a friend. They also provide support for staff and parents in the school communities.’

So we know my name so what else can I tell you? I’m an easy going, passionate, fun and big dreamer kind of girl, I have a passion to see young people reach their potential, know they are cared for and to be someone to support and encourage them along the way. I have two gorgeous pups that are very full on but super cute, I’ve been working with young people for over 8 years; helping organize youth events for my church youth group, I enjoy four-wheel driving, taking my pups to the beach and just love being with my family and friends.

So there were some fun facts and I look forward to sharing more and having my first year, along with many more to follow as the Chappy here at Toolooa High, with some great new programmes in mind and a breakfast club to start up in the near future. Thank you to everyone for your support and allowing me to make just a small impact to this generation.

Claire Breed.

Alice In Wonderland School Musical

Make up practice for the musical has begun for the Alice in Wonderland Musical.
ADF Study Tour (3 – 7 March 2014)

The Australian Defence Force offered a chance for 20 young Indigenous Australians to spend time at two key Australian Defence Force establishments, the Army Logistic Training Centre in Bandiana Victoria and RAAF Base Wagga Wagga, the RAAF School of Technical Training and Recruit Training Unit.

The tour allowed students who are genuinely interested in the ADF to participate in some fun military style activities and gain insight into the various careers offered by the Australian Defence Force.

This was a wonderful opportunity for Indigenous students to increase their understanding of the important role of the Australian Defence Force. Applications were open Australia wide, with students having to address an intensive selection criteria.

We are very proud that five Toolooa students: Juwan Eggmolesse, Sharna Gaston, Georgia Schofield, Jalen Eggmolesse and Shanai Ingra were selected to attend. We have received overwhelming positive feedback from the students, as well as impressive reports from RAAF Wagga Wagga Base Command.

2014 Youth Week – Mayor’s Breakfast

On Friday 4th April Katie and Kaitlyn attended the Mayor’s Breakfast in recognition of their involvement in community activities.

Nominations were submitted outlining the activities the girls were involved which included being Red Cross ambassadors, assisting with Red Cross Christmas wrapping, sports umpiring, student executive membership involved in fundraising and awareness raising for events such as Relay for life, mental health week and World’s Greatest Shave to mention but a few.

Katie and Kaitlyn should be congratulated on their successful nomination and for all they do within our local community.
The Oodgeroo Unit, QUT in partnership with Arrow Energy again this year offered a camp to a select group of schools from across Queensland to assist Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander year 9 and 10 students explore their post-school options.

The camp was designed to inform students about a variety of options to consider: with information on courses and careers, entry programs, financial assistance and support services available. The camp is specifically designed for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander student and included visits to QUT campuses, Outdoor Adventure Activities, Cultural Sessions facilitated by local Traditional Owners and an NRL match between the Broncos and Rabbitohs at Suncorp Stadium.

In addition, students participated in a variety of activities on campus and received additional information from current students to assist them in making decisions about their post-school options. Information sessions and activities were complemented by a large variety of fun, interactive social activities.

While most schools are winding down in the last few days of first term, Toolooa SHS used this time to educate our students about careers in the resources sector.

Toolooa SHS and QMEA hosted two rounds of Career Cafes, a program which sees a number of industry experts come in to the classrooms and discuss how the national curriculum learnings apply in the working world.

QGC’s Lab Analysis, Kieran Pierce spoke to 200 students over the course of the day including Year 8’s and Year 10 Maths B classes. Kieran, whose personal and professional story entertained both students and teachers, showed his audience how a career in science and the resource sector can take you across the world.

Toolooa also hosted AP LNG’s Environmental Supervisor, Jamie Reilly who generously gave up his morning to speak with our year 7 classes. The eager minds worked with Jamie on a series of water testing activities and learnt more about the environmental side of the LNG operations.

QMEA Career Cafes are a perfect way for students to plan their career pathways as early as possible. They allow students to hear from those industry reps working in the field right now. They get a direct picture of what it is like in a certain field and learn more about the everyday details. The Career Cafes have had a positive impact on subject selection and areas of University study.
There is no doubt that 2014 will be the year that counts for me as well as all the Year 12 students within the Gladstone region. With exams as well as the scary, intimidating future ahead of us, this year will definitely be challenging to say the least. Like all teenagers, there was a stage where I wasn’t sure of what I wanted to do when I left school – the large variety of careers challenged me to long and thoughtful thinking, “What do I want to do when I leave school? Is university the right choice I should make?”

After pondering over several daunting questions, I finally determined that the engineering and energy sector would be the pathway of my choice. However, I still was unsure of what engineering really was and what it consisted of. Year 11 physics and Engineering Technology gave me a small idea of what comes with being engineer, but I wanted a broader view. It wasn’t until I was approached by my physics teacher that I saw an opportunity to really understand the engineering and energy pathway – The Queensland Minerals and Energy Academy Student Ambassador program. Competing for a position that I wanted alongside the rest of Queensland seemed difficult, however I was successfully chosen as one of the 20 student ambassadors. With other students from places such as Rockhampton, Mackay and Moranbah, it was evident that there was a variety of students with different approaches of the energy sector – all eager to find out what this position meant for us.

Our first event we attended was a four day ambassador workshop in Brisbane at the start of December last year. We were greeted by QMEA Project Officer Robyn Flexman, as well as organiser and fellow Project Officer Bob Barker at the St Lucia College Campus. Unaware of the four days ahead of us, we settled down and prepared for the coming days adventures. Throughout the following days on the workshop, we were exposed to a variety of different companies and worksites all willing to provide information about how they contribute to the energy sector. Travelling to the Stanwell Power Station, Safety in Mining, Training and Research Station (SIMTARS), Santos as well as BMA, all of us learned valuable information and broadened our view of the energy pathway.

As well as visiting these places, we were also asked to attend the Ambassador Breakfast, where we approached by industry representatives in a more comfortable manner. We were then given awards and spoke to Queensland Minister of Education John-Paul Langbroek. As nervous as we all were, Mr Langbroek greeted us in a friendly and openly manner, taking away our nervous feelings.

The following day came with our farewells and best wishes, as we all began the long journey back to our homes. Stepping foot back on Gladstone soil, I finally felt like this pathway was the one I wanted to be in. Our journey opened our eyes as to what we could achieve and where we can end up by following the energy sector. Whether it is going through university and pursuing a career or pursuing vocational training and getting a trade, or combining both pathways, the energy sector seems to be waiting for us students. And it's waiting for more students within the coming years.

So if you’re a student unsure of a future career or want more information about the minerals and energy sector, I urge you to take the opportunities the QMEA has to offer. I have been fortunate enough to have the QMEA provide me with this opportunity, and it is only the beginning of my journey of being a QMEA Student Ambassador. And who knows, this opportunity may lead us students to a promising and fulfilling future ahead of us.

Bradley Fuller – 2014 QMEA Student Ambassador

Red Cross Blood Donations

Are you 16 or older? Do you want to save lives and feel great? Why not donate blood?

Toolooa staff and students have already saved 54 lives this year through generously giving up their time to donate blood. Every donation saves three lives and only takes about 45 minutes of your time (giving blood only around 8-10min the rest is interview and refreshment time). Younger students can also support Toolooa Red Cross Blood donation totals by encouraging their friends and family who donate to sign up for Toolooa State High School Club Red (https://www.donateblood.com.au/who-can-give/club-red/join-group).

Students who are interested are to see one of the Red Cross Ambassadors (Katie, Kahla, Kaitlyn, Jessica) or Mrs Read for paperwork.

Domestic and Family Violence Prevention Month

Each year Domestic and Family Violence Prevention Month is held in the month of May. The aim of the month is to:

- Raise community awareness on the effects of domestic and family violence;
- Promote a clear message of NO tolerance to domestic and family violence in our community;
- Promote what support is available in our community for those affected by domestic and family violence; and
- Encourage those who used abuse or violence to take responsibility and seek support to change.

Do you know someone affected by domestic and family violence?

This year’s campaign is MAKE THE CALL (Queensland Government – Deptartment of Communities). The campaign encourages the friends, family, colleagues and neighbours of people experiencing abuse in a domestic or family relationship to call the statewide DVConnect Womensline or Mensline to seek confidential advice about safety strategies and available support.

The aim of the campaign is to enable people in the community to recognise signs of domestic and family violence and especially non-physical form of violence – such as stalking, threats, verbal abuse or controlling behaviour.
